

The NRGreen Difference

We pride ourselves on building some of the most energy efficient homes and products in North America. From materials that curb deforestation to partnerships with local suppliers to reduce carbon emissions in shipping, we put energy efficiency first in every business decision we make.

When you choose NRGreen Windows, we also take into account energy saving provincial grants, programs and rebates and apply them directly to your quote. Not only does this reduce your total product price, but it also saves you valuable time. Small details like this set us apart from the competition and help you concentrate on the big picture – your properties.
